THE CALISTA REGION

Tucked between two of Southwest Alaska's mightiest rivers – the Yukon and Kuskokwim – is the unique and isolated area that makes up the Calista Region, which is the traditional home of Alaska's indigenous Yup'ik, Cup'ik, and Athabascan peoples. The Region encompasses 57,000 square miles and is the second largest Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (ANCSA) region in size. Calista's land entitlement, however, is only 6.5 million acres - less than 20 percent of the land area. Approximately 75 percent of the land within the Region is owned by the Fish and Wildlife Service. Most of the remaining lands are owned by federal and state governments, with a very small amount privately owned. Surrounded by mostly federally owned lands, the Region is about the size of New York State. It encompasses nearly 10 percent of Alaska's land area and is comprised of 56 federally recognized tribes.

CALISTA STOCK

After the passage of ANCSA in 1971, Calista had 13,306 original Shareholders and issued 1,330,600 shares of original stock. Today, the Shareholder population owning Class A or B stock has grown to nearly 14,000 Shareholders through gifting and inheritance.

In 2015, Shareholders voted to issue stock to Descendants of original Calista Shareholders and to missed enrollees who could have received original Calista shares but did not. This stock, known as Life Estate Stock, is valid only for the life of the Shareholder. Upon passing of the Shareholder, the Class C (Descendant) or D (missed enrollee) stock is returned to Calista for cancelation. Calista issued the first round of Life Estate stock in December 2017 to about 12,000 new Shareholders and estimates that there may be another 17,000 or more potential Descendants and missed enrollees eligible for Life Estate Stock.
